May Cause Complications by Rescuing Miss Cisneros.

CABINET GRAVELY SITS ON CASE

Skeptical as to Sagasta's Power to Pacify Cuba. General Lee to Leave for Havana.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM

Washington, D. C. Oct. 12.—The Cabinet informally discussed the action of the New York Journal in rescuing Miss Cisneros from a Cuban prison at its regular session today. It is said they fear no international complications as a result of it.

Consul General Lee was at the State department and the White House today. He will leave for Havana in a few days.

The administration does not believe that Sagasta and his cabinet will be more successful in Cuba than its predecessor, except in so far as pacific measures and reforms may eventually succeed in paving the way for the ultimate freedom of Cuba.

GUILFORD COLLEGE.

Its Fine Mineral and Biological Collections.

About six miles west of Greensboro, situated in a grove of fine old oak trees and surrounded by nearly three hundred acres of highly cultivated land, is an institution of which Guilford county and the State of North Carolina should be justly proud. It is Guilford College; bounded, developed and encouraged by those sterling citizens, The Society of Friends. Since it was founded in 1837 as New Garden Boarding School, building after building has been added. Founders hall, King hall, Archdale hall, Y. M. C. A. building and a new Gymnasium, last the Duke Memorial hall, erected by the Messrs. Duke, of Durham.

This building is 120 feet long, by 55 feet wide. The first floor contains the museum of natural history, including the fine mineral collection of Cyrus P. Mendenhall and some excellent specimens of the taxidermist's art. This museum is probably the best in the state. Adjoining the museum is the Chemical Labratory, for practical work in chemistry, in addition to these is the Physics, and two other class rooms and the Presidents office.

On the 2nd floor is the auditorium running the entire length and width of the building, with a large stage for commencement exercises and any entertainments the two Literary societies may give during the scholastic year. The building is heated by furnace and supplied with water throughout. The thing that strikes at first sight is the attention that has been paid to light and ventilation. It will probably be finished in a few weeks and dedicated with appropriate ceremonies, during this term.

The aim of this institution is incorporated in the words, "Mens sana in corpore sano," a sound mind in a sound body. In this brief article we cannot but touch, as it were on the circumference of an account. We are glad to say the attendance is the largest in the history of the college. We return thanks to President Hobbs, Messrs. Petty and Tomlinson for courtesies shown us during our brief but pleasant stay.

DR. EDWIN MIMS

To Lecture Before the Epworth League October 29th.

The Poet Longfellow was the theme which occupied the Epworth Leaguers at West Market Street church last evening. The interesting program consisted of the following:

A paper by Dr. Whitsett on "His Times."

"The Day is Done," solo, by Miss Josie Wood.

Biographical sketch, by Dr. J. H. Wheeler.

Quartette, "The Psalm of Life," Miss Lola Carraway, Miss Nan Wood, Mr. R. M. Crawford, Mr. James Mann.

Longfellow as a Poet, by Prof. C. L. Raper.

"The Bridge," solo, by Mr. B. S. Phillips.

Twenty questions concerning the poet.

The league had expected to spend an evening with Lowell on the 8th of next month, but instead Prof. Raper announced they would have the pleasure of spending an evening with Dr. Edwin Mims, Trinity's zealous professor of English literature, on the 29th of October. He will lecture on some literary topic. Dr. Mims easily stands first in the state, if not in the South, in his wonderful enthusiasm for worship of literary gods, and he has gained an enviable reputation on the lecture platform.

A RALEIGH TRAGEDY.

Young Machinist Shoots His Wife and Kills Himself.

The Raleigh correspondent of the Charlotte Observer, gives the following account of a horrible tragedy that occurred there yesterday:

Your correspondent has, in twenty years, of newspaper work, seen many pitiful sights, but surely none more dreadful than that seen this morning at the neat little home of Al. Watson, in the northern part of the city. Watson was barely 22 years old, a machinist and a drunkard, who lost his place at the Seaboard Air Line shops here for drunkenness and who once tried to commit suicide by taking laudanum but did not take enough. July 18th last he married Ada Pearce, a pretty girl of 18. Watson's father was Gib Watson, the Seaboard Air Line engineer who was killed last year in a collision at Rockingham. The mother of Mrs. Watson was last year killed by lightening at Moncure. Yesterday Al Watson was drinking. His wife remonstrated with him, followed him around the streets and begged him to be better. He went home at tea time and quarreled with her. He knocked her down and slapped her, then said he was going away. About 9 he returned and there was some sort of a reconciliation. They ate supper. Katie Pearce, a sister, aged 13, lived with them. She tells in a graphic way the terrible story of what followed. Early this morning she was awakened by the screams and cries of Mrs. Watson, and going to her room, at 6:45 o'clock, found Watson calling his wife pet names. His wife said, "That is the way you do; you call me pet names when Katie comes. You are making fun of me. I will leave. I will kill myself." "Where will you go?" said the husband. She said "I do not know," and put on her hat. He said, "Before you shall go I will kill you." She said, "If you kill me you will be hanged for it." He cried out, "No, for I will kill myself, too." At these words he put his hand in his pocket and little Katie ran to a rear room and opened a window to call for help. As she entered the door Watson threw his wife upon the bed and putting a pistol agaist her left side fired. In an instant he sprang up and walking in front of a window, took a cartridge from his pocket and put it in the pistol, then held the latter against his head, back of the right ear and fired. He fell like a stone. The wounded woman crawled off the bed to him, throwing her arms around him. He never spoke. At 9:15 he died. She was conscious part of the time and prayed almost unceasingly. Poor little Katie was a witness of the whole affair which was a sermon on the evil of intemperance. Mrs. Watson is yet alive and there is a ghost of a chance of her recovery.

HOME-MADE MONEY.

An Unusual Case Comes Up in the Federal Court.

A rather novel and unusual matter claimed the attention of Federal court here this week. It seems that a party or parties at Wilkesboro have been issuing their own money. It is a very simple thing and a habit that has been for a long time, and is yet, indulged in to a greater or less extent.

The merchant, instead of a due bill, gives his customer in exchange for produce, a kind of check, promising to pay to bearer or order a stipulated amount. This scrip easily circulates around the neighborhood where the merchant or signer is known and where his credit holds good.

There is a statute, though it has been almost totally forgotten, against this kind of business. A number of lawyers did not know it—had either never known it or had forgotten its existence.

The case in point at this term was considered by the judge, and the solicitor instructed not to draw a bill, as the parties were totally ignorant of any violation of law.

Mr. Charlie Pugh Badly Hurt.

Last night as Mr. Charlie Pugh, of the grocery firm of Pugh & Andrews, was driving his delivery wagon along Davie street, one of the bolts which holds the shafts to the axle dropped out, letting one side of the shafts down and the crossbar dropping on the horse's heels, caused him to run away.

Turning into Church street Mr. Pugh was thrown from the wagon and dragged for some distance, the wagon passing over him a time or two. The horse ran about a mile and a half, and strange to say nothing was broken neither was the horse hurt.

Mr. Pugh was badly bruised and injured. Drs. Richardson and Brooks attended him. He suffered a good deal of pain through the night, but at last account today was resting better. His injuries, though very painful, are not considered dangerous.

THE SPANIARD'S ANSWER

To The Representations of Minister Woodford.

SPAIN WILL FIX NO DATE.

The Answer A Slap Direct at Americans. Spanish Cabinet Has Not Yet Approved It.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Madrid, Oct 12.—The Imparcial announces that it has good authority for saying that an answer has been drafted by the government to the note addressed to the Duke of Tetuan by United States Minister Woodford. The answer sets forth that Spain is unable to fix a date for the ending of the war in Cuba. The government considering the effects of the concession of autonomy in Cuba and taking in consideration the activity of the Spanish troops and the fatigue of the rebels expects a speedy ending of the war, which would have been terminated sooner but for the help given rebels by the United States.

The cabinet has not yet approved the draft of this answer which was prepared by Minister of Foreign Affairs Gullon.

POPE TO PRESIDENT McKINLY.

London, Oct. 12.—Pope Leo has presented to President McKinley a magnificent book illustrating and describing the Borghese apartment in the Vatican. TEMPLE CUP BALTIMORE'S.

She Takes the Fourth Game from Boston.

Baltimore, Md. Oct. 11.—The Temple Cup will stay in Baltimore another year. It has been won twice in succession for the first time in its history, and if the "Orioles" take it again it is theirs absolutely. The former "champions" also take 60 per cent. of the money paid in at the gates during the three games in Boston and the two played here, while the winners of the "pennant" will get but 40 per cent, unless, as is generally believed, the players have agreed among themselves to divide the spoils equally.

First Presbyterian.

As announced last Sunday by the pastor, there will be services at the First Presbyterian church tonight and also on Wednesday and Thursday nights, beginning at 8 o'clock.

A full attendance is desired.

MATCH GAME OF FOOTBALL.

Greensboro vs. Guilford College Friday afternoon.

The Greensboro Football Team will play the Guilford College team in this city on Friday afternoon next at Athletic park. The game promises to be an interesting and hotly contested one. The Guiford boys are in good trim and are still jubilant over their excellent showing against the University on Saturday last.

The Greensboro team has not played a game this season, but their practices show that the boys from Guilford will not have an easy time in defeating them.

We hope there will be a large attendance of our citizens to encourage the players, as well as to guarantee other games here, which the management intends having, provided there is sufficient interest manifested by our people.

The price of admission will be 25 cents. Carriages and other vehicles will be admitted to the grounds.

THE CASE OF MR. BLODGETT.

Thomas B. Blodgett, a Republican leader in Georgia, is finding out that it is a very dangerous thing to have been a confidant and favorite of the King. He managed Mr. Hanna's purchases in Georgia before the St. Louis convention, and being dissatisfied with the recognition he has received, threatened to go on the stump in Ohio and disclose Mr. Hanna's methods. Straightway he found himself imprisoned on trumped up charges of various kinds. He must be discredited before he could take occasion to discredit Mr. Hanna. It is a new manifestation of Hannaism.

Mr. Hanna has been so much abused that there is really a danger that he may be considered an excellent citizen. As a matter of fact he is the most dangerous man in public life today. Why? Because he has demonstrated the possibility of ruling by money alone. He has gone one step further and proved that to buy control of the nation's resources at any price is a good investment.

Mr. Hanna is so proud of his discovery that he has more than once boasted of it. He makes no bones of declaring that he elected Mr. McKinley and that through the instrumentality of money alone. The usual forces of a political campaign are merely used to mask his real movements. He goes on the stump as a sort of formality. It is a respectable old custom and Mr. Hanna yields to it just as he would wear a dress coat on occasion or would remove his hat on entering a church. But he does not even reckon it among the elements that will figure in his success.

Like all great plans Mr. Hanna's is very simple; it is merely this: Find out how many men you need and then buy them. It may cost a pretty penny but buy them for all that. This is Hannaism offensive. Hannaism defensive is to use a partisan prosecutor to throttle any rebellious subject who shows an inclination to make trouble by descending to unpleasant particulars. Mr. Hanna knows that the American love of the immense will pardon his method when seen as a whole; it is the disgusting details that will revolt. So Mr. Blodgett found himself in jail.

Voters cost so much per head out in Ohio, and if Mr. Blodgett could have disaffected several thousand of them by his tales on the stump the effect would have been apparent on the wrong side of Mr. Hanna's bank book. It was good business to nip him in the bud, and Mr. Hanna is an excellent business man. Therefore he was nipped.

There is a neatness, a precision and dispatch about the Hanna way of doing things that makes it a fascinating study; the only objection to it is that it means the ultimate subversion of the American Republic and the utter debauchery of the American voter.

There are two things that make the triumph of Hannaism, for a number of years at least, tolerably certain: The number of preposterous and impossible schemes that are being charged against it by hairbrained and vaporporing malcontents and the consequent refusal of those who might thwart it to believe it guilty of anything reprehensible. The ultra radical charges everything; the ultra conservative believes nothing. While these two neutralize each other, Hannaism will pursue the even tenor of its triumphant way, and its triumphant way will be marked by the increasing predominance of the venal, the vulgar and the vicious in public affairs.

SOME of the northern publishers are using rose tinted paper for their journals. This is done to furnish a suitable back ground for the editor's views of the situation.

MODERN scientists are talking about "filthy paper money" as though it were a new discovery. Some one long ago said something about filthy lucre.

IS there any significance attaching to the fact that the flood of gold came in some weeks behind the flood of prosperity?

Mr. Balfour announced that no special session of Parliament would be called to deal with the distress in Ireland.

A large water main burst in the heart of the fashionable district in New York and caused heavy losses by flooding cellars and basements.

The President will vote in Canton next month and the day after election will attend the exercises at the Carnegie public library, in Pittsburg.

The Treasury Department will appeal from the decision of the general board of appraisers, holding that the Dingley tariff law did not go into effect until it was signed.

The Queen Regent of Spain has ordered that assistance be given to the families of the anarchists executed at Barcelona some time ago and that their children be educated at her expense.

The Spanish cabinet on Saturday confirmed the decision arrived at on Friday to recall Captain-General Weyler from Cuba. Premier Sagasta announced that the pacification of Cuba would be the government's first duty.

The registration of voters so far in New York is not encouraging the friends of municipal reform, the figures being less than last year. A deal by which the Citizens' Union ticket in New York county will appear on the Henry George ticket has angered friends of the latter. Senator Foraker, of Ohio, was the principal speaker at a meeting in New York which ratified the municipal nominations. Randolph Guggenheimer, who was born in Lynchburg, Va., and who voted for President McKinley last fall, has been nominated by Tammany for president of the council to succeed Colonel Ruppert, who withdrew from the ticket.

For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. NEWS OF THE TAR HEEL STATE.

Raleigh's $50,000 of street improvement bonds have been received.

The gin-house, grist mill and saw mill of J. D. Taylor near Scotland Neck, was destroyed by fire. 30 bales of cotton were burned. There was no insurance.

A transmitter was placed on the pulpit of the Presbyterian church in Lenoir on last Sunday, enabling the sick and invalids to hear the services by telephone.

Bids for the construction of the Capital Club building in Raleigh were as follows: Isadore Itner, Atlanta, $17,442; McAfee, $18,340; Getteritz, $20,267; George W. Waring, $20,890; Knoxville Building Company, $20,050. The contract was awarded to Itner.

Durham seems to have a professional safe blower. Some time during last night some person or persons entered the store of J. S. Mangum, on Mangum street, and blew open the safe. The hole was bored near the bolt of the safe door, and was so situated that the explosion shattered the lock. About one hundred dollars was missing this morning when Mr. Mangum opened up his store. There is no clue whatever to who the perpetrators were.

Here is a fresh political sensation. A leading minority Populists says that a meeting of that "party" and its sympathizers will be held at the State library at 7:30 p. m., October 21. It is asserted that these minority Populists and their friends are numbered by the thousands in the state, and that they stand ready for action. Senator Butler well knows what this means. It means that they are getting ready, to use the language of the boxers, to "go up against him." The meeting is understood to be for purposes of conference and consultation. — Raleigh Correspondent of Charlotte Observer.

WRECKED ON HATTERAS.

Tramp Steamer Hesperides and Cargo from Cuba a Total Loss.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 11.—The dreaded outer Diamond Shoals off Cape Hatteras have claimed as their victim another ship and her cargo. The big tramp steamship Hesperides loaded with a cargo of iron pyrites and bound from Santiago de Cuba to Baltimore, stranded there yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock, but was not discovered until this evening. She is now pounding on the sands, and, together with her cargo, will prove a total loss. An almost impenetrable fog prevailed at the time the Hesperides went ashore, and it was impossible to avoid the shoals.

CANADA WANTS FUNDS.

Bank of Montreal Invites Tenders for $10,000,000 Loan.

London, Oct. 11.—The Bank of Montreal has invited tenders for £2,000,000 ($10,000,000) 2½ per cent. inscribed stock at not less than 91. Of this amount £1,000,000 will be applied to paying off the floating debt of the Dominion.

Dughi Finds a Fortune.

If Dughi, Raleigh's well known ice-cream and fruit man, hasn't stumbled upon a fortune, he's most. It was purely by accident, but recently he discovered a way to make ice without the use of machinery. Some of this ice, blocks weighing 100 pounds, will be on exhibition at the fair Wednesday and Thursday. It is perfectly pure—as pure as the water of which it is made, and he offers $50 to any other person who will make ice like it without the use of machinery.

Mr. Dughi will patent his new ice-making process. In the meantime, of course, the method will be kept a secret.—News and Observer.

Sale of the Union Pacific Railroad.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Attorney-General McKenna has issued an official statement announcing that the government had decided not to appeal the Union Pacific foreclosure suit, but to allow the road to be sold on November 1, in consideration of the Union Pacific reorganization committee raising its guaranteed bid from $45,754,059 to $50,000,000. The road is to be sold to the highest bidder, but with a minimum bid guaranteed, as stated.

Burning of the Tug Clyde.

Key West, Fla., Oct. 12.—The revenue cutter McLane, Captain Reynolds, arrived yesterday afternoon with the crew of the tug Clyde, which was burned to the water's edge and sunk. The crew were ashore at Tavernier Key. The captain was on board, but asleep. He awoke finding the tug ablaze. He jumped overboard, and swam nearly a mile ashore. No cause is assigned for the fire. Everything was lost.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervogs system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the liver and kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it, Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

Mrs. Joe Person, of the celebrated remedy bearing her name, arrived in the city on the noon train from the east.

H. E. C. Bryant, of the Charlotte Observer, was in the city today. He looked as fresh and rosy as rosy can be.

An Alamance farmer went away from Greensboro happy today. He sold a load of tobacco at the Banner warehouse at 25 cents per pound.

John M. Dick is having a new shop building erected on Davie street, which will be occupied by G. W. St. Sing as a repair and smith shop.

We are glad to announce that Whitt Stone is able to be up on crutches. He has had really a remarkable recovery from the unfortunate accident which cost him a part of his foot.

A negro, W. L. Murphy, was arrested by Officer Scott last night, charged with burning the storehouse and stock of Jacob Jones, one night last week. Murphy will have a hearing before the mayor this afternoon.

J. Henry Phipps has placed an order for a new delivery wagon to be used in his grocery business. Mr. Phipps is doing a nice business out on Asheboro street, and his store is a great convenience to people in that part of the city.

The carpenters have about completed their work on the new and attractive residence of Mr. J. M. Walker, on West Market street, and the painters are pushing their work along. This building, with that of Mr. W. R. Rankin, on the adjoining lot, will add a great deal to the appearance of that part of the city.

Railroad Commissioner S. Otho Wilson paid the TELEGRAM a call this morning. He said that the last number of the Hayseeder was taken up so largely with the transactions of the attempted removal that he did not have space for other things, but that succeeding numbers will have all the warmth promised. He added that he comes of a race of fighters and will try to convince some folks before he is through that he has inherited those qualities in an unstinted degree. He says the hatchet has been permanently exhumed.

LIBRARY OF THE CITY SCHOOLS.

Another Room to be Used for it Hereafter.

The room formerly used for the ninth grade will, since the new addition, be used hereafter to accommodate part of the growing library. This will give two rooms and hall where the Congressional rocords are stored for library purposes.

The library is at present composed of fifteen hundred excellently selected volumes that circulate among the pupils. The library contains many of the best series that have been published up to this time. Among them are the American Statesmen series, Epoch History series, Great Writer series and Famous Women series.

The collection of books for reference is exceptionally good. It embraces such representative works as Appleton's Cyclopædia of History, Library of American Literature, Colonial Records, Standard Dictionary, McMaster's History of the People of the United States, Johnson's Cyclopædia and others.

Specially noteworthy is the serviceable collection of books for use in the higher work in English, and the collection of historic novels for parallel reading in the history courses. Many of the books are read in the class room and made the basis for work in composition. Some valuable additions of new books have just been made to the library.

Most of the books have been secured with a view to their practical assistance in the work of the various classes. It may be noted in passing that this library is one of the state depositories for congressional reports.

It is very gratifying to learn that after the struggling beginning of this library it is at length getting upon so broad a basis. Almost the entire collection is the fruit of entertainments and of the private contributions of pupils and teachers.

IT'S A GOOD APPETIZER

Just to Look at Lindau's Establishment These Days.

If the way to reach a man's heart is through his stomach surely Lindau ought to be making friends now. His fall line has just come in and been artistically arranged on the shelves and it is a pleasure and a sauce at the same time to go in and look it over. It solves the problem of being useful and eminently pretty at the same time. Substantial and dainty, in cans, in boxes, in glass, the four corners of the earth have contributed to his shelves. It is a gastronomic poem.

It is always a pleasure to watch a man who knows his business—who can put on those few extra touches that show the hand of the adept; the man who knows what to do and how to do it—and when it comes to buying and arranging, from cigars to cheese, Lindau evidently knows.

It must be a real delight to housekeepers to know that they can get just what they want in everything that contributes to a well kept and dainty table. If "civilized man cannot live without cooks" he can not get on overwell without things to cook. Lindau has them cooked and uncooked. Go and see for yourself.

Each one Separate.

If each lump of coal was separate, with legs to walk on and arms to wash and brush itself clean, it would be just a little cleaner, and could get into your cellar just a little easier than it does at present. Mind you, only just a little. We think we have the cleanest and best coal ever mined, and that we deliver it as carefully and promptly as it can be done. We should be glad to have your opinion and we'll treat you fairly.
